CAMPAIN TIMES IN GEORGIA.
Campaign times in Georgia! them's the times for me!
Wish they'd last forever—good as good can be!
Money—it's just plentiful, dollars bring 'em new,
And if you wait a hundred yards you strike a barbecue!

Campaign times in Georgia—best you ever known.
Candidates 'a-sleepin' in the middle of the road;
Visitin' the people, speakin' at the school—
Goin' straight to glory on a mortgage and a mule.

On North Fork, in Carter county, the residence of F. H. Rumm was destroyed by fire, burning to death two little children who had been locked in during their parents' absence. It is thought the fire was the work of an incendiary. A search is being made and if the firebug is caught he will be lynched.

PATRICK HARKINS and James Harkins, twins, who were born 76 years ago, have been tailors at Lexington for over 50 years. Thursday morning Patrick died. His brother was in good health, but the shock of his brother's death has caused him to become dangerously ill, and his recovery is not expected.

HON. J. R. SPURGEON of this city and Rev. J. F. Moreland of Cincinnati were the prominent speakers at the Emancipation celebration of the colored citizens at Distinct's Park on Thursday. Circumstances over which the orators announced had no control prevented their presence. The meeting, however, was a grand success, and much credit is due Rev. Oliver Nelson and his assistant managers.

HONOR TO COLUMBUS.

Maysville School Children Celebrated Yesterday With a Parade and Appropriate Exercises.

Yesterday could have been properly termed children's day in Maysville, at least the forenoon part of it.

The pupils of the public schools were out in full force to honor old Columbus. The bold navigator is one of the great heroes in the average child's, especially boy's mind, and they were enthusiastic over the chance to do honor to his memory. They marched like old veterans on dress parade and kept step to the music along the entire line with remarkable precision. There were probably 700 of them in the procession. They marched in twos with Hauke's Band at their head. The High and Intermediate schools came first and then Districts Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4. The line was several squares in length.

The parade started from the High School building on Fourth street, passed East on Fourth to Limestone, to Third, to Market, to Second, to the Opera-house. Each had a flag in his or her hand and all the girls were prettily dressed.

Space had been reserved in the Opera-house and all of the little ones were accommodated before the public was allowed to enter the building. A large number of the pupils were on the stage and the remainder occupied seats in front.

The first thing on the program was the singing of "Hail Columbus," in which all the boys and girls joined. Rev. B. W. Mebane of the Central Presbyterian Church then led in prayer. Then came "The Star Spangled Banner" and then, after the reading of the President's Proclamation by Professor Ellsworth Swift, the "Red, White and Blue" was rendered and it proved the most popular song of the day.

Hon. Thomas R. Plister was then introduced by Superintendent G. W. Blatterman as the orator of the day. His remarks were bright and entertaining and were especially adapted to the occasion. He was paid the closest attention. After the benediction the audience, one of the largest ever within the Opera-house, filed slowly out, all satisfied that the morning had been properly spent.

It is reported that Denver will be agreed upon as the next place of meeting of the General Episcopal Convention, in session at Baltimore.

CORRETT has sold the right to a whiskey firm to name a new brand after him. No doubt it will be a good liquor to make strong punches with.

THOMAS A. DAVIS returned yesterday afternoon from Bracken county and left this morning for Greenup, where he is billed to speak to-night.

Torques at the Christian Church to-morrow will be Morning, "Fidelity to Little Things," Luke xvi, 10; Evening, 7 o'clock, "The Holy Spirit and the Discovers," John xvi, 13.

THE many friends of Miss Nettie Newell, daughter of H. L. Newell of Limestone street, will be pleased to learn that she is able to be out after a six weeks struggle with typhoid-malaria.

ONE of the largest audiences of the season greeted Miss Sadie Scanlan at Lexington Opera-house last night. Miss Scanlan is very pretty and was generally applauded. Her play, "Nora Macaire," has a nice thread of romance running through it. The scene is laid in Ireland and all of the characters are taken from life in the green island.

A NUMBER of reasons are given why the late trotting races at Lexington were not the great success they usually are, but the oddest of them all is the following from The Lexington Observer: "It is thought that the Clemen Hotel disaster is largely responsible for the falling off in the attendance at the Trotting Horse Meeting this fall. That hotel was very popular with the better classes of trotting horse men throughout the North and South, and when the telegraph flashed its fall all over the country many of that class declined to come here. This in turn influenced others and hence the unfortunately slim attendance."

Cholera.

When properly treated as soon as the first symptoms appear, cholera can nearly always be cured. The patient should go immediately to bed and remain as quiet as possible. Send for a physician, but while waiting his arrival take Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in double doses after each operation of the bowels more than natural. If there is severe pain or cramps, take it in double doses every fifteen minutes until relieved. This Remedy has been used with great success in seven epidemics of dysentery that were almost as severe and dangerous as cholera, and if used as directed a cure is almost certain. Every family should have a 50 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Remedy for instant use. After the disease is under control castor oil must be taken to cleanse the system. No other physic or substitute will do in place of castor oil. For sale by Power & Reynolds, Druggists.

THE ACADEMY OF VISITATION.

Columbus Day Celebrated on an Elaborate Scale—A Delightful Entertainment.

Columbus Day was celebrated at the Academy of Visitation yesterday on an elaborate scale. Initiatives had been issued extensively among the friends of the ever popular institution and almost every one took advantage of the opportunity to be present. The occasion will be remembered by those who were there as one of the most pleasant incidents of a season which will be a memorable one, made so by the fact that in the corresponding period of a former century communication was established between the New World and the Old through the agency of the man whom all America delights to honor.

A glance at the varied and attractive program was a guarantee that the entertainment would be one of distinctive merit. Every number was carried out and all were of a high standard of excellence. The large audience manifested its delight in many expressions of approval. Avowals of praise and commendation were heard on all sides.

The building was tastefully decorated, especially the large auditorium where the exercises were held. The entertainment began at 2 o'clock and the afternoon had almost vanished when the last number on the program was reached.

It is not necessary to particularize or to mention in detail the performers or their work. All were delighted in their various roles and every feature bore evidence of the thorough instruction of the pupils. The Mandolin Club was particularly noteworthy. The new and interesting work of the young ladies who manipulated the pianos or those who orally performed their parts. The tableaux came in for their share of the favors bestowed, and were truly wonderful conceptions and realizations.

The address of Hon. Thomas R. Plister was in keeping with the superiority of all the rest and like all of his efforts was able and thoroughly agreeable. The Sisters were to be congratulated upon the thoroughness of their school and the proficiency of their pupils in all branches.

A Cholera Scare.

A reported outbreak of cholera at Helmetta, N. J., created much excitement in that vicinity. Investigation showed that the disease was not cholera but a violent dysentery, which is almost as severe and dangerous as cholera. Mr. Walter Williams, a prominent merchant of Jamestown, two miles from Helmetta, says Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has given great satisfaction in the most severe cases of dysentery. It is certainly one of the best things made. For sale by Power & Reynolds, Druggists.

Reception.

The Epworth League of the M. E. Church tendered a reception last evening to the new Pastor, Rev. D. P. Holt and his estimable wife. Refreshments were served and the following program was carried out:

MASSONIC GRAND LODGE.

New Officers of the Kentucky Lodge—The Most of Them Promoted.

At the meeting of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Kentucky now in session at Louisville the following officers were elected:

John Speed Smith, at present Deputy Grand Master, was promoted to be Grand Master.

James William Stanton was in like manner chosen Deputy Grand Master, and H. H. Hopson Grand Senior Warden.

For Grand Junior Warden the following nominations were made: F. C. Gerrard, W. P. Coats, Virgil A. Gardner, P. Peak, R. H. Thompson, J. R. Rogers, C. C. Boyton, Thos. McWayne, P. E. Kemp, John Walters, Rev. A. A. Pike. On the third ballot Mr. Gerrard was chosen.

J. H. Leathers Treasurer, H. B. Grant Secretary, H. R. Coleman Chaplain, and J. D. Davidson Tiler, were all re-elected.

MR. AND MRS. SIDNEY DREW will be the next attraction at Washington Opera-house.

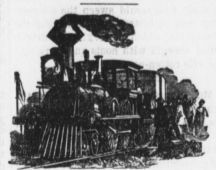

JAMES DUNK, yardmaster at the L. and N. yards, is much improved and is expected to be out in a few days.

The Montgomery county Confederates met at Mt. Sterling and organized the "Roy Stewart Club Post."

AMONG THE RAILROADS

THE STEEL HIGHWAYS THAT LEAD TO AND FROM MAYSVILLE.

Items of the Rail That Are Staked Up and Piled Into The Ledger's Columns by a Thoroughly Competent Engineer.

The L. and N. earned $41,785 during the first week in October, an increase over last year of $9,310.

Work on the new L. and N. Depot has been begun at Cynthiana. It will be erected on the site of the old depot, and will be a handsome structure, it is said.

The Kentucky Union Railroad Company will begin the erection of shops at Lexington at once, the city having decided to issue bonds for $15,000 to pay for the site.

He's in the Soup Now.

Felicity Times.—Since he assumed the toga of the late Esquire Beasley, Citizen Harrison Bradford of Aberdeen has married 17 nearly 100 couples. Drummers are being employed to work up business as between that individual and his competitors, one of whom is only a mere boy. In the name of decency, and the sanctity of the marriage relation, isn't it time that the Prosecuting Attorney of that county was waking up and making an effort to crush the awful farce?

It Was Awful Funny.

The Bulletin is running a race with the funny papers. In its issue of yesterday it had a wonderful cork-and-bull advertisement for a local merchant, in whose store a section of the ceiling "took a tumble" and literally mashed the devil out of a Harrison hat, while a Cleveland hat, the president in part of the room, escaped as safely as Mr. Cleveland did during the war. The application was so intensely funny that it nearly broke up a crap game in Sussalg alley.

Maun County Reorganized.

During the absence of Governor Brown at Chicago, Lieutenant-Governor M. C. Alford has been acting as Governor, and in place of the latter Hon. Garrett S. Wall of this city was called to preside over the Senate—an honor well conferred and one that will be appreciated by the Senator's many friends here. Yesterday the Legislature passed the Revenue and Corporation bills, substantially as they had passed originally, and they are again before the Governor for his assent.

"RED" AUSTIN,

The Noted Crook, Nabbed for a Gold Brick Job.

A Greedy and Susceptible New York Farmer Cleverly Victimized.

He Blies at the Old Banks But and Loose Over Five Thousand Dollars—Austin Has Been Arrested Several Times, But Always Escapes Punishment.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 22.—"Red" Austin, once a familiar figure in Vine street, is in trouble again. A few years ago, in a gold brick job, he ran the Hotel de Rhine, at Vine and the canal. During that time, and for some months before, Austin posed as a man about town. He would go out on short excursions and return with his pockets bulging with beads. It was necessary in his business, for his expenditures over the bar during a month rarely fell below $500. Before he became so well known locally he stopped at the St. Nicholas and other swell hotels, where his liberal expenditures made him a favored guest. Gradually it became known that when he went out on his short trips it was to "work suckers" on trains with short car tickets, or else to turn a gold brick trick. It was not very long before rouders were aware that their princely entertainer was a noted crook, the associate of Billy "Big" and artists of that ilk. Austin was several times arrested here, but always managed to get out of the law's hooks. Once he had a narrow escape when taken to Indiana to answer for selling an old farmer a "gold brick," but his good friends in this city and city officials had him wigged out of the tolls. His intimates here say that Austin was the scapgoat of a wealthy family, his uncle being a lawyer and politician of some reputation.

Austin was an assumed name, as is Patrick Davis, by which he is better known professionally. When he finally had a narrow escape when taken to Indiana to answer for selling an old farmer a "gold brick," but his good friends in this city and city officials had him wigged out of the tolls. His intimates here say that Austin was the scapgoat of a wealthy family, his uncle being a lawyer and politician of some reputation.

Thursday afternoon in New York, as "Red" was "choking up" the Hoffman house, he was arrested by Police Chief Saravia, of Newburg, N. Y. Patrolman Rhyneders and Detective Woods. Austin showed fight and drew a revolver, but he was quickly disarmed and taken to Newburg where he is wanted for bunking an aged farmer out of $5,000 by the gold brick.

Thursday night he was resting in a double-barred, double-boiled cell in the Newburg courthouse. He had $30 on his person when he was taken there. He was identified as having been there on various occasions.

He was indicted six weeks ago for grand larceny in having on December 14 last bunked an aged farmer named Crowell out of $5,000. He visited Crowell's home in Newburg, about ten miles from Newburg, endeavored to buy his farm, exchanged a gold brick and induced the old man to make a cash deal for his home and farm. He was identified as having been there on various occasions.
